

February 15, 1923

Charles W. Osborne Dies At Verdon Home

Charles W. Osborne, a member of Groton Lodge No. 65, A. F. & A. M., and well known in this city, died at his Verdon home Monday. His death was due to a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Osborne was hauling hay on the farm when he was attacked by paralysis. After being carried to his home he suffered great agony until the end came that day.

The deceased has been a member of of the local Masonic lodge since January 18, 1900. He was born in Covington, Ky.

Owing to the blizzard no arrangements have been made for the funeral. H. Paetznick has the body in charge

P

M